Privacy Policy

User Documents

Text derived from documents you upload or share with Colit LLC is stored in our servers in order to provide service. This text, and all other information pertaining to your user account, are stored in a quarantined folder of our server.

This quarantined folder is segregated from other users, and is not backed up. It is deleted from our servers when you delete your Colit AI project.

Training Data and Third Parties

Your data is not used to train AI models. To provide service, some of your text is sent to a third-party AI provider such as OpenAI.

This third-party has its own privacy policy. This policy states that user data is not used to train AI models, is not shared with any other parties, and is retained for no more than 30 days.

Colit LLC does not share your data with any other third parties.

Personal Information and Cookies

We store your account information, including email addresses, in order to service your account. No other personal identifying information is collected other than IP addresses, to monitor for abuse.

For paid plans, our payment processor, Stripe, collects your billing information.

No cookies are set.

Data Security

We employ standard security measures to protect against unauthorized access to your texts and account information.

Policy Effective Date

This policy is dated Jun 27th 2024.
